3 . 0X1	There were approximately 3500 or 4000 students (slushiteli) at the Artillery Academy. The Military Faculty consisted of a three year course, the technical faculties offered four year courses. The Academy had at least 500 instructors, including the administrative staff. In 1947 or 1948 the Artillery Academy was divided into two institutions. One retained the original name and consisted of the Military Faculty. The other, also in Moscow, must have been formed from the technical faculties of the cld Academy. The new institution was named the Military Academy of Artillery Sciences (Voenniya Akademiya Artilleriskikh Nauk).	50X1

5.	The Central Artillery Design Bureau (of the Armaments Industry) probably refers to the Central Artillery Design Bureau (KB) of the Military Artillery Academy imeni Dzerzhinski, which bureau in all likeliheed is new under the Academy of Artillery Sciences. This KB's personnel were drawn mostly from the Artillery Academy and might well work with and be supported by the Ministry of the Armaments Industry (Ministerstve Vooruzheni).
